If they had the suggestion made to them with sufficient strength they would no doubt start in with muslin the first of December. No action could better suit those who deal in apparel. The quicker they dispose of their wares and turn to new things, the better their books look. The more women rebel against the seasons, the faster they coin meney.

An Unusual Season.

This has really been an unusual season in that regard, for women have spent money readily since August, and therefore the stocks of nearly all the important shops are depleted and huge sales are in progress of the original sales are in progress of the original Paris models as well as those which were made in America. The clearance of the thousands of pieces of apparel that were brought over from France the first of September alone will compensate for all the expenses of the autumn. When others tell you that fifty models of a costly Callot gown were ordered before the middle of October, it is easy to see how prosperity is coming. s coming. On fur neckpieces there has been a

On fur neckpleces there has been a run. The high coachman's collar did not end the search for originality. Furriers have found many new ways to assemble odd pieces of peltry to persuade buyers into more purchases. The sofa rushion must that was once given to the world has been returned to fashion, and this time the world does not intend to turn its back on it.

A sketch of it is given today with a collar to match. Black velvet and brown fur are combined. It takes a good pair of eyes to stand out from and above the mass of material that envelops the head. There is no aid to be expected from the other features; the eyes must do it all. The plaque that is placed below the ear is in harmony with the dat must which is built in circles of alternate materials, and has a huge tassel in the center.

The furriers have had a splendid season. They have sold and altered fur pieces and ransacked the country for more and more fur, until the word goes out that satiation has set in, and this well in advance of cold weather. Curious people, women, aren't they? They rarely take the climate into their minds when buying new clothes. They see that fur is to be in the height of fashion, and straightway they indulge in it in quantities during August, wear it in the neat of September, do not murrant to the fact remains that nothing is safe that to a garment which stemings that it gives that be being to a garment which stemings for curtains, for cushions, for upholostering, for sewing bags, for laundry steming, for sewing bags, and for every other kind of bag.

There are trays showing real butter-flies, carefully mounted between two plates of glass. Usually these show pressed flowers and leaves and bits of well made they are very attractive. Some trays show tiny birds, alone or with the butterflies, made of feathers of gay colors—real feathers. There are select from.

The rocking parrots of wood, that stand on the edge of a table and sway back and forth in the breeze, are another bird vogue. The tiny celluloid birds that balance on the edge of the glass of water, holding the place card in their beaks, are another bird novelty. For table decoration, too, there are the For table decoration, too, there are the little porcelain birds that are used to decorate the bowl or vase of flowers. These are especially pretty when used with flowers, and sometimes nicely dried butterflies are used with them. The birds are fastened into position by means of a little putty or plastic clay.

There are all sorts of bluebird things, too. There are various sets of glasses—made up of tumblers and pitchers or carafes for water on lemonade, with trays to match. The bright little bluebirds of happiness are always shown with outspread wings. On china, too, these bluebirds are shown. For a season predominated by dark colors, this season presents many pit-falls for womankind. For, dark as the accepted colors for street wear are,

Most of the dark colors of the season and stringy and well nigh as hard to swallow as india rubber.

To have the turkey tender and delicious on Thanksgiving day "first catch your hare"—in other words, first select a good bird at the market and tken see that it is cooked and basted properly. It is the best plan to shop for the feast at least two days beforehand, for if one waits until the day before all the best birds will be picked out and only the tougher fowls will be shades of red.

Most of the dark colors of the season are becoming to the very fair woman are becoming to a fair-skinned woman unless there is a green tinge to her skin—and green plays a remarkably big part in the coloration of the skin—or unless her skin is sallow. There are certain shades of green, however, that look well on the sallow woman and seem to modify the sallowness. Of course, the woman with very high color, be she dark or fair, shoulu avoid shades of red.

But the dark brown of this season is else.

Green, too, is unbecoming to some women, although the shades of the season are very good ones. The woman who looks pale and anemic must be careful of green. The sallow woman, too, must go slowly when choosing green. A real brunette, with very dark nair and eyes and good color, probably looks as well in dark green as in any color on the calendar.

women lose all sembiance of good looks as soon as they get into a dark-brown jacket. A little white at the throat would remove the difficulty—but the bit of white at the neck is quite as impossible to get this year as the pot of gold at the end of the rainbow. The only way to tell whether the fashiogable shades of dark brown are becoming or not is to try them. If you have brown eyes and brown hair you run a better chance of finding them becoming than if you have blue eyes and light nair. nervous breakdown and would have such weak, dizzy spells I would have to go to bed for a day at a time. When visiting friends in Bradford, Ohio, an old doctor recommended that I try Vinol. That very day I bought a bottle and continued to take it regularly. It has done me a world of good, built me up so I feel stronger in every way, and have gone back to work again, and I want to recommend Vinol to any old comrade or aged person who needs strength, for it is a grand medicine." W. H. Bowers, Steubenville, Ohio.

The reason Vinol is so beneficial to old people is because it contains the very elements needed to replace declining strength with renewed vigor, viz. the medicinal elements of fresh cod livers, without oil, peptonate of iron, beef peptone and a mild tonic wine.

We ask every aged person in Washington to try Vinol on our offer to return their money if it falls to create strength.
